Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

No. 1 on next Tuesday's ballot has come to such a pass, that when the fire bell rings and our business men run to the front door to see what direction the fire engine takes, some one always asks: "Whose burning their Ham and Eggs now?"

Regarding this highly debated plan for hastening the millenium, we heard a business man remark that he would vote for it. He said "If it dosn't work we can repeal it, same as we did prohibition." That is one way of reasoning, of course, if it may be called reasoning, but privately we believe the inmates of a booby hatch would reject it.

Wild rumors are afloat on the effect of Ham and Eggs on our mining industry and the county mine payroll of $380,000 monthly in good U S. money. One is that if Ham and Eggs should be adopted, some of the companies expect to pay off in warrants. This on theory that if we are afloat on a sea of inflation, bales of paper may be the best rafts available.

We have heard of newspapers being printed on wallpaper in great emergencies, and we dare say the same thing can be done with "warrants" by overprinting in red ink. One thing certain is that newsprint, all of which comes from outside California, will have to be paid for in coin of the realm. Our bills for all kinds of supplies now come in the first of each month bearing the rubber stamped legend: "Payable only in U. S. legal tender."

But we cannot be convinced that this veritable "helzpoppin" nightmare will become real. We still think that enough people living in California who will go to the polls and vote to defeat it, especially in Nevada county. For this is the premier gold mining county of California, if not the United States. We do not believe our miners will be willing to delve in the bowels of the earth for gold, the foundation of all currency, the universal token of all trade, and then accept their pay in paper "warrants" worth 4 cents less than nothing when issued. Our community, at least, has a deep respect for gold metal which is worth $35 an ounce anywhere on earth. This "funny munny" to be manufactured in California can never be a substitute for gold and what gold universally stands for.

There will be a tendency among most citizens when the battle is over next Tuesday, and, we hope, Ham and Eggs, has been defeated by a whopping majority, to think that winning the battle has won the war. But we feel certain that unless the legislature enacts stringent laws to restrict the activities of charlatans in proposing hare-brained, something-for-nothing schemes, we shall have another battle on our hands in less than a year.

Kindig and Owens have shown the world a new way of making a handsome living by preying on the gullibility of the people. We are willing to gamble that even though Ham and Eggs goes down to ignominious defeat, it, or its alter ego, will rise again to plague us. Kindig and Owens are not the only artists in skinning the wishful thinkers. The world has many a Ponzi looking for green pastures. The fact that the Internal Revenue Department now wants to know what became of all the vast sums that, without paying income taxes, Kindig and Owens have collected from the old folks of California, won't deter rascals everywhere from coming to California, where pastures are greener for all kinds of people. While we may fondly think we have run the gamut of crackpot schemes, scoundrelly brains will think of others.

So again we make the plea that citizens opposed to Thirty Thursdays, or Twenty Five Mondays, or Two Hundred Monthlies, now resolve to appeal to the legislature when it meets in January, to restrict the activities of get-rich-quick uplifters. Unless the taxpayers of California organize and demand protection from these raiders, who would place themselves above the governor, the legislature and the fountain head of our government, the people themselves, we will ultimately be overwhelmed by disaster.

OLD-AGE PENSION PLANS FOR DEC. 1 ARE ANNOUNCED

Preliminary plans for paying the monthly benefits after next January 1 to persons who meet the requirements of the federal old-age and survivors insurance program were announced today by J. G. Bretherton, Sacramento manager of the social security board.

Returning from a regional conference of social security board managers in San Francisco, Bretherton explained that the payment of benefits to workers who attain age 65 and also to the dependents of workers who die after next January 1 is in accordance with amendments to the federal social security act passed by the Congress almost three months ago.

"These amendments advanced the payment of benefits two years and also extended protection of the social security act to aged wives, widows, dependent children and dependent parents of persons who have worked a sufficient amount of time and have made sufficient earnings from employments covered by the law," Bretherton said.

"The amended program is properly described as an 'old-age and survivors insurance plan' because it not only provides protection to the worker at age 65, or at such time thereafter as he retires, but it also gives continuing protection throughout his working life to his family dependents if he should die before attaining the retirement age.

"Benefits under the amended law are more liberal than under the act passed in 1935. Coverage of the act has also been extended by bringing bank employees and seamen under the law as of next January 1 while workers beyond age 65, not covered under the original act, are now under the law and may upon meeting the retirement be able to claim a monthly payment."

Bretherton said that a worker who has attained age 65 will be eligible for monthly benefits on next January 1 if he chooses to retire and meets the following requirements: (1) he must have been employed in at least 6 calendar quarters between January 1, 1937 and January 1, 1940 at employments covered by the law and (2) he must have earned at least $50 in each calendar quarter.

If this worker has a wife who is 65 or more, the monthly benefit will be increased by one half. Benefits will be based on the average monthly wage of the worker between January 1, 1937 and date of attainment of 65 or retirement.

Thousands of claims have already been settled with workers who have attained age 65, the settlements having been a lump sum as specified in the original act.

Within a few weeks, Bretherton said, these persons will receive notice that their social security accounts may be re-opened and they may apply for the monthly payment if they meet the minimum requirements. The amount of the former settlement will, however, be deducted from the monthly annuity payable upon retirement. Bretherton said that application forms for benefits under the amended act would probably be available about December 1.

The conference in San Francisco was also attended by H. A. Downard, assistant manager of the local social security board office.

SHOVEL PLACERS REPORTED READY TO RESUME WORK

Mr. Reiss, in charge of the new company that has just taken over the Shovel Placers property at Columbia Hill, was a business visitor in Nevada City yesterday. A large shovel to handle gravel passed through Nevada City several days ago, enroute to the property and is being installed with other equipment. More machinery is to be installed and the company expects to start operations in two months.

Miss Margaret Rector, on the Nevada City high school staff, was out of school last Friday due to illness. Mrs. K. Flewellyn, vice principal of Nevada City high school, was ill on Monday supposedly from an attack of flu.

FOREST COMPANIONS VISIT MARYSVILLE

Eighteen members of Mistletoe Circle Companions of the Forest chartered a bus and motored to Marysville last evening to greet their grand official who was making her official visit. As the officers of Mistletoe Circle presented their gift to the grand officer they marched in a group carrying corsages which they presented to make a huge bouquet. Two members Mrs. Merle Valenchini and Mrs. Winnifred Rule sang, "An Old Fashioned Garden" and were accompanied by Mrs. Veale.

THESE WORTHIES HATCHED HAM & EGGS SCHEME

By B. W. HORNE
(Staff Correspondent, San Francisco News)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2.—Of the Ham an' Eggs leaders who have set California on its ear, virtually all have been long busy peddling panaceas from the medicine wagon.

And as is often the experience of medicine peddlers, they have had their brushes with the law, records here disclosed today.

Willis Allen, "boss" of the Ham an' Eggs organization, tried the real patent medicine route before he tackled economic medicine. His patent medicine, Grey-Gone, was supposed to be a hair restorer. It didn't work. Federal courts fined him $1000 and gave him probation for two years on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

MEET EARLE KYNETTE

His brother, Lawrence Allen, a lawyer and the "brains" behind it all, met Earle E. Kynette, along the road to Ham an' Eggs. Kynette then a captain of police, had money. The Allens needed money. Kynette advanced $130. After he was convicted as a racketeer and bomber, Kynette sued the Allens for one third of the Ham an' Eggs profits, which he said he was promised for making the loan.

"Professor" Charles J. Husband of Southwestern University, Los Angeles, is no longer with the school and is not a professor. A former railroad man, not a college graduate, Mr. Husband learned about taxation in the office of the Los Angeles assessor.

In 1923 a Los Angeles Grand Jury indicted Mr. Husband on ten counts of theft and kindred charges. The charges were later dismissed because of a technicality. The Grand Jury's auditor was at the meeting when the indictments were voted and because of that the courts ruled Mr. Husband could not be tried. Eventually Mr. Husband became a tax consultant and teamed up with Joey Rosenthal, political fixer for former Governor Merriam. They operated under the name Tax Research, Inc. Then Mr. Husband joined Ham an' Eggs.

STARTED AT $10 A WEEK

Roy G. Owens, the engineer-economist for Ham an' Eggs and slated to become its administrator and head of a 50 million dollar state bank, as well as chief of a 500 million dollar tax collection agency under provisions of the proposed initiative, is not an engineer. If he is an economist he is a graduate of his own school of economy. He left high school at 15 in Indiana, became a salesman, lost out. Then he joined the Ham an' Eggs organization at $10 a week, it was a choice between that and the WPA. He had been on WPA, but apparently didn't like its writers' project.

Mr. Owens also had been busy in the Utopian Society which had a plan for dated money in 1934. In 1936 he got his own plan in print—in Father Divine's newspaper. He called it the "Righteous Government Act." It was a national plan under which there was to be no money and no taxes. It gave all individuals more than 50 years of age the right to quit working. Nothing happened and for a time Mr. Owens turned to Plentocrecy, Inc., a Chicago organization.

N. T. Porter, banking expert for Ham an' Eggs began as a superintendent of schools in Davis county, Utah, in 1895. He was active in insurance, real estate and banking in Utah. He came to Los Angeles, organized the National Thrift Corp., which went into receivership in 1932. Its 30,000 investors lost more than

HALLOWE'EN FOR YOUNGSTERS IS VOTED SUCCESS

The Hallowe'en party sponsored by the Elementary School P. T. A. for all pupils of the school is considered by all those aiding in it to be a success. Plans are going forward to extend the program next year to include the high school. Some talk is for a grand parade through the town in costumes and awards for the best, most original ,etc.

The kiddies in the first three grades had a most enjoyable time in the big building back of the elementary school during the afternoon and the children came down through a portion of the town to receive their ice cream cones showing off their costumes and Hallowe'er masks to the crowds that gathered to see them. Many of the masks were made by the children and were well done.

In the evening the fourth, fifth and sixth grades enjoyed a party in the same building while the seventh and eighth graders gathered at Seaman's Lodge in Pioneers Park at 7 o'clock and remained until near midnight. The lodge was packed with children and many prizes were awarded for all sorts of costumes after which jolly games were played, each grade giving a stunt. Vice Principal Cecil Klee manipulated the movie with well chosen films. Delicious refreshments were enjoyed and upon their leaving the hall nearly all of the children had cars waiting for them to return to their homes.

Windows in the business district were not marked as much as usual and many of the destructive pranks played in former years were omitted. It is stated an older group attempted to pull up shrubs in one yard in the northern part of town. Long slabs of cement and stone were pulled from the tops of walls along Boulder street in two places, some pickets were pulled from a fence on Park avenue and Attorneys Finnegan and McKee lost door mats. The mat at the McKee office has not been found as yet. The worst offense seemed to be turning in a false fire alarm on Nevada street.

ORIENTAL MINE EMPLOYS 20 MEN

C. B. Foster, superintendent of the Oriental mine at Alleghany was a business visitor in Nevada City yesterday. He has 20 men employed. The mine is operated by Mrs. Florence V. Dickey of Ojai. A 70 ton mill has just been installed. Winter supplies are stocked and work is proceeding steadily.

CHURCH GUILD MAKES PLANS FOR ACTIVITIES

Activities for the year 1940 were planned yesterday afternoon by the St. Agnes Guild of the Trinity Episcopal church at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. A. B. Innis on Boulder street. The annual Every Member canvass, scheduled for December, and aid to charitable institutions were discussed.

The Every Member canvass will have as its three-fold purpose: to influence people to attend church services, to get church members to volunteer aid for church campaigns and to get members to support the church. The national canvass wil officially be started Sunday morning at 7 o'clock when the presiding Bishop of the Trinity Episcopal church, Bishop Henry St. George Tucker, gives a radio address to two million members over a national hook-up.

The guild also made plans for giving aid to the Red Cross. It was decided to donate money to the Red Cross after the church budget has been met.

More than 20 members attended the meeting.

The many friends of Mrs. R. J. Bennetts will be pleased to learn that she is regaining her health and is expected home from San Francisco shortly. She was taken by plane to San Francisco about two weeks ago.

JOINT CELEBRATION FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Banner Mountain Post, V. F. W. will participate in the Armistice Day celebration with Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post American Legion in Grass Valley November 11. The parade will start at 10 o'clock in Grass Valley and appropriate services will be held over the graves of soldier dead. The two posts celebrate Armistice and Memorial days jointly, alternating between Nevada City and Grass Valley.

After the Armistice Day celebration all Veterans of Foreign Wars will gather at the post hall on Commercial street and enjoy a luncheon. Louie Pinella of Nevada City is commander of the V. F. W.

VOTERS URGED TO GO TO THE POLLS NEXT TUESDAY

At the polls on election day, every citizen of the United States is the equal of every other citizen of the United States — with equal powers and equal responsibilities.

Most Californians would agree absent-mindedly with that simple statement of fact, but thousands, in all probability, would pass it over as of little consequence.

The proof of the pudding can be found in the returns of almost any election. Hundreds of thousands of citizens don't even attach enough significance to their right of franchise to exercise it on election day. A 70 per cent vote is considered exceptionally high! a 50 per cent vote is considered good; a 35 per cent vote brings indignant editorials from a few conscientious editors and yawns from vote slackers tired after a day in the mountains, or a hard day on the golf links.

Yet the right to vote is actually the most important possession of an independent people—the key to their independence. And it is a key that has been lost today in more than half the nations of the earth, due in large part to public neglect of public responsibilities.

The foregoing is written a few days before a vital California election—an election in which five ballot proposals, several of far-reaching importance to every voter, will be submitted to the people of California.

But because it happens to be "a special election," instead of a presidential primary, or a general election, California—if history repeats itself—will cast a light vote on Nov. 7, with nearly half the voters staying away from the polls and sidestepping their responsibilities.

It is greatly to be hoped that history doesn't repeat itself, in this particular, at this election—for California can't afford the consequences. Selfish, organized minorities will vote; that much can be depended upon. And California can't afford to yield to the dictatorship of selfish minorities.

Proposition No. 1 on the Nov. 7 ballot alone (the dangerous Ham and Eggs pension amendment) should insure a record breaking turn out of voters who are anxious to protect the welfare of their state, their home communities and their families. For Proposition No. 1. if enacted, would do more damage to California than ten years of depression.

There are four other issues to be voted upon at the same election—two bills designed to regulate small loan companies, the Atkinson oil control act and a new chiropractic act.

And regardless of the opinions of the individual voter on any of these measures—regardless of whether he intends to vote "Yes" or "No"—he owes it to himself and the state of California to get to the polls on election day and vote as his conscience dictates.

California has had a bad habit, in the past, of treating special elections lightly. The heaviest vote ever cast at a special election in the state's history totaled only 56 per cent of the registration. And in many special elections, the vote has dropped as low as 20 or 30 per cent.

If that kind of voting obtains on November 7, the tax-loaded, joker-studded Ham and Eggs amendment is virtually certain of enactment.

And if that happens, California farmers, California workers and California business men — big and small—will pay dearly for their neglect of duty.

President Roosevelt has stated that the Ham and Eggs plan would cost every working, producing Californian 25 per cent of his earnings every year it remained in effect. It is probably a conservative estimate. And if California voters still stay away from the polls, with that kind of a threat hanging over them, they deserve anything that happens to them.

Further than that, deponent sayeth not.

ON TRIAL FOR ALLEGED THEFT OF BLOND DOG

Sometimes a blond woman leads a man into legal difficulties but this time it is a blond dog, a cocker spaniel named Nugget of Gold Town, and valued at $350 by his owner, Mrs. Helen Gothard of Grass Valley. For allegedly stealing the dog, Fred Baker, former skating rink operator in Grass Valley, is being tried in the Superior Court on a grand theft charge.

Mrs. Gothard, complaining witness states that Baker took the dog in August and only returned him when officers arrested him. The dog was gone six weeks, and testimony revealed that in that time he accompanied Baker to Oregon. Baker stated at the preliminary hearing that he borrowed the dog for breeding purposes and that he had agreed to give Mrs. Gothard half of the expected litter.

On the jury which is sitting in case in Superior Judge L. Jones' court, are ten men and two women. The dog was exhibit No. 2 in the presentation of evidence.

PICTURES SHOWN OF WORLD'S FAIR

H. E. Kjorlie entertained the Rotary club at luncheon yesterday with colored views of the Golden Gate Exposition on Treasure Island, views in, and adjacent to, Nevada City, and several lovely pictures of Yellowstone National park. Some of the colored pictures taken at night of the fair, were exquisitely beautiful, notably the tower of the sun with colored searchlights in the background. Several of Nevada City's charming gardens were shown, the colored photographs faithfully mirroring the autumn hues of trees and shrubs.

COUNCIL ASKS STORES CLOSE ARMISTICE DAY

At its regular meeting last night the Nevada City Council heard a plea from W. Winnager, representative from Banner Mountain Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to close the stores here for a short period in remembrance of Armistice Day, November 11.

On the motion of Mayor Benjamin Hall the council passed a recommendation that the merchants in Nevada City close their stores for the same period of time as the merchants in Grass Valley.

A rebate of $216 to James Grizzle and Tom Dolan of the Morgan-Powell building was denied by the council. Grizzle and Dolan asserted that they had been overcharged $2 every month on their water bill for nine years. The matter will be referred to the city attorney for further consideration.

The following bills were ordered paid:

GENERAL FUND

Jas. Allen $125.00; H. S. Hallett $150.00; R. L. P. Bigelow $100.00; Garfield Robson $150.00; Geo. H. Calanan $20.00; Max Solaro $71.50; Dr. E. M. Roasner $40.00; Mrs. E. Foley $12.50; Miles P. Coughlan 12.50; Lionnel Davies $125.00; Dick James $99.00; Nick Sandow $119.50; Tom White $63.00; Craig Davies $81.00; Ted Sigourney $118.68; Earnest Young $113.06; Roy Hoskins $118.12; Omar Simmons $113.62; R. Economy Begins At Home

So much attention has been centered on federal spending programs, since tax levies have mounted to the point where the pocketbook of every citnzen is painfully flattened, that the average taxpayer is apt to direct his cries for relief to Washington and overlook matters nearer home — his own state, county and city taxes.

Federal taxes are exorbitant, and the constant increase of the national debt by a program of spending more than is taken in each year is cause for serious concern. Yet many industries and individuals are harassed even more by their own home officials. One example, which is by no means an extreme one, should suffice to arouse every taxpayer to the homely truth that economy, like charity, should begin at home: Last year class one American railroads and subsidiaries paid taxes totaling $343,193,790. Of that amount $264,9349,17, or 77 per cent, went to State and local governments. Tax statistics of many other basic industries bear out the fact that state lawmakers are fully as guilty as Congress, if not more so, when it comes to oppressing business, preventing job-creating expansion, and generally retarding recovery locally as well as nationally by penalizing industry with unreasonable taxation.

Certainly every California legislator should bear that in mind—now that a special session has been scheduled principally for the purpose of considering new and higher taxes demanded by the Administration. Californians may feel relatively helpless when the Congress, representing all 48 states, goes on a new tax spree. But Californians may certainly control expenditures nearer home. They can demand economy at Sacramento.—Contributed.

Alberta's Printing Press Scrip

The truth-careless promoters of the Ham and Eggs scheme—which you will vote on November 7 as Proposition No. 1—are still telling their followers, and hope You will believe, that the Alberta scrip-stamp "Warrant" plan is in operation, and that it works.

The promoters, in spreading such deceit, are just as careless of facts as they are in promising—not under the Act's provisions, but by a special "rule"—that: "Retirement warrants can be converted into money any time after thirty days from date of issue."

Here's the truth about Alberta warrants, straight from an individual in Alberta, who knows:

John Blue, Manager-Secretary, Edmonton Chamber of Commerce (Air-mail letter dated October 26, 1939): "The prosperity certificates, or the scrip plan, adopted in 1936 failed within a few months. Dividends have not yet been paid and never will. The treasury branches are a frenzied experiment to try and redeem some of the numerous promises made in 1935. Notwithstanding Alberhart's promise in 1935 to pay $25 a month to every citizen over 21 and smaller amounts per month to young people under 21, not one dollar has yet been paid. Although several acts have been passed by the provincial legislature, they were beyond the powers of a Canadian legislature to enact and, consequently, were disallowed by the Federal Government or adjudged too extreme by the Canadian courts. The Social Credit administration of Alberta will go down in the history of the province as the greatest failure in our political history."

Cost of War

In view of the fact that many groups in this country—industry, retailers, farm organizations, labor and various others—have come out with strong stands against this country's participation in war, it is important at this time to see just what lies behind their aversion from a realistic point of view.

Evidences continue to pile up that the opposition in America to the idea of war is based, more than anything else, on the rack and ruin that war causes along all fronts.

What were some of the costs of the last war? It may help to avoid ever entering another one to have these matters brought clearly to light.

Here is at least part of the sad story:

To pay for our actual participation cost this country 22 billion dollars. Loans to our allies, largely unrepaid, ran to more than 8 billions more. That's a DIRECT COST of 30 billions, then, paid mostly in the productive wealth of our factories, our retailing, our farming, and the hard work of Americans in every branch of productive enterprise.

What's more, it's only the beginning. It takes no account of demobilization and dozens of other items that followed the war. Total veterans' expenditures to date, for instance, have come to nearly 12 billion dollars more. Whereas back in 1916 the United States was paying about $4,000,000 on its veterans' institutions, today it is spending over $50,000,000.

To make the picture even worse, these direct costs hardly begin to account for the burden a war imposes. It takes no account, most of all, of the losses that come directly to industry, on whose welfare the prosperity of the nation depends, from the dislocation of an entire economy—from idle factories, idle men, and idle investments, the inevitable aftermath of war. As one authority well puts it, "In the calculation of war cost there is literally no end."

No wonder all those productive groups in this country who help to create the wealth that is poured down the drain of war want only peace!—Contributed.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Just Wonderin'

I wonder at the dignity of trees—
When tall pines fret the glowing evening sky,
And incense cedars bow their graceful heads
Responsive to the night wind's plaintive sigh;
I wonder at the sturdy strength of oak,
The lissome lovliness of fir and spruce.
The calm serenity with which they yield
To our demands of beauty and of use.

I wonder what would happen were the Paul Bunyan legend of walking trees to become reality; let's imagine. Given the power to move about at will, trees would soon acquire the traits of restlessness and discontent for which the human family is notable. Strong, rugged trees feeling themselves crowded, or otherwise inhibited, would move out into wide, open spaces, while lonely, isolated trees would slip into the vacancies thus created, to find happiness and security in the companionship of their forest kind.

If trees could walk, they would probably stage pageants—we should see them marching by, single file or two abreast, green plumes and banners waving, bird's nests in their hair and long roots trailing. We would wax scornful and wonder why trees didn't stay in the forests where they belonged.

Perhaps a forest monarch feeling the heat of a camper's fire creeping up its trunk, would speedily side step both man and fire—perhaps even deal harshly with the thoughtless pigmy who had been careless with lighted matches, and camp fires.

Another tree observing the approach of the man with an ax, would certainly give him a run for his fuel. Sensitive little trees might develop inferiority complexes, become climbers and begin trying to keep up with the pines and other aristocratic conifers. Entire forests would migrate to more desirable localities—the cedars might return to Lebanon, the olives to Olivet; and then? A big, blustering tree might gather those of his race about him, tell them of their noble descent and impress them with the unique idea that of all sap, theirs only was pure sap, and let all other sappy trees take notice.

The heresy of this sap talk, would cause friction among the trees, lead to many complexities in tree relationships, finally to war. The trees, whole forests of them, would fall upon each other with unimaginable ferocity, chaos would ensue and the puny tribes of men would flee to the caves of the mountains, there to hide in mortal terror until the trees had regained their sanity and peace had come again to the forests.

This imagining has gone far enough. Let's rejoice in the knowledge that the trees are now and ever will be content to remain rooted to the spots whereon they sprout, that they manifest none of our underisable traits and that ours is the privilege of learning and understanding their peculiar virtues and in some measure emulating them. A priceless heritage this of the trees, what more can we do for their care and protection?

Uncle Silas says: "Whenever I think of our forests and their invaluable products, I'm reminded of the passage in scripture which commands us, 'to hold fast that which is good'."

Crocheted Frock for Young Party-Goer

A FULL skirt flaring from a demure little yoke—made just for party days for the very young set. Crocheted of mercerized crochet cotton, it calls for only fifteen balls of thread, and is fashioned so that it may be lengthened or shortened at will. A dress like this will make your youngest look very smart indeed, and will also be eligible for entry in the Third National Crochet Contest which will take place this fall. Directions for crocheting the dress, and details of The National Crochet Contest may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The National Crochet Bureau, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Specify dress No. 5022.

FEUD BETWEEN PATTERSON AND OLSON IS BITTER

By CLEM WHITAKER

In bygone years, when politics was a lusty game of name-calling and trust-busting, the Republican Party staged some family squabbles in California which became internationally famous—such as the old Bull Moose uprising and the Hughes snub of Hiram Johnson, which made Woodrow Wilson President.

And California Democrats now seem destined to follow in the footsteps of their illustrious Republican forebears!

There's been some knifing going on in Democratic ranks during California's special election campaign that promises a feud which will rattle the rafters and rock the dome on the Capitol.

Lieutenant Governor Ellis E. Patterson, openly breaking with his chief, first sank the stilletto into Governor Olson with his open espousal of Ham and Eggs—a proposal which the Governor had denounced as a snare and a delusion. That might have been forgiven, however, for the governor was inclined to be charitable. But then, Galloping Pat—with the bit in his teeth—broke out with a bitter attack on Governor Olson's pet bill, the Atkinson oil control act.

When Mr. Patterson, disregarding the fact that Governor Olson had fathered it, charged that the Atkinson act was supported by "forces of greed and monopoly," he not only cut himself off at the pockets with the governor, but he also caused a flurry of indignation in the White House at Washington. For President Roosevelt—an ardent advocate of oil conservation, as a defense measure—has publicly endorsed the Atkinson bill and appealed to Californians to vote for it.

Under the circumstances it is problematical just how much support Lieutenant Governor Patterson will get from Democratic chieftains in his campaign next year for United States Senator against the veteran Hiram Johnson. Hiram, in fact, is probably chuckling—because back in the good old days, when a G. O. P.'er sank the knife into some rival clansman, it was done with finesse and dispatch. The victim hardly suffered. The present business, to an old Republican war-horse, is just plain amateurish.

The Democratic feuding, however, is likely to carry over into the special session of the state legislature, scheduled for early in January. And Lieutenant Governor Patterson, as president of the senate, can cause plenty of furore in Democratic circles if he opposes Governor Olson's program. The governor's friends, on the other hand, can throw the harpoon into Mr. Patterson at the 1940 election—if both gentlemen live that long.

Scampering about, in the meantime—making hay while the sun shines—is that other big California Democrat, eloquent Sheridan Downey. Mr. Downey, since his election to the United States senate, has been making friends, instead of stabbing them. And when the Olson-Patterson feud is over it may be affable, fast-thinking Sheridan Downey who picks up the pieces!

In lieu of the 5-cent cigars of yesterday, a San Francisco candidate for supervisor has been passing out bags of salted peanuts—with a snappy vote appeal printed on each package. And even the cry of "peanut politician" hasn't discouraged him. "Voters are like monqers" says the candidate. "They like nuts!"

After election, our spy advises, the federal income tax brigade will move in on the Ham and Eggs promoters with both feet and a whole corps of accountants. Several of the pension chiefs, according to the grapevine, failed to file income tax reports for 1938. And recent admission of $60,000 and $70,000 salaries for key executives of the pension scheme have brought lifted eyebrows in Washington. The government wants its pro rata!

Publicized as Olson Enemy No. 1 on the governor's "pudge" list Assemblyman Gordon Garland of Tulare county has suddenly achieved political eminence that may make him Speaker of the next Assembly. Mr. Garland, instead of suffering from the gubernatorial blasts, has emerged as the standard-bearer of an insurgent army that threatens to dethrone Paul Peek, the administration-supported Speaker. It's the strange case of "The curse that became a blessing."

MAGICIANS SHOW IN SACTO. NOV. 1

Next Wednesday night is destined to be a gala night in Sacramento, judging from the lively interest in the engagement of the International Magicians in Action, who will be the attractions at the Memorial Auditorium on Wednesday night, November 8th.

Maldo, the famous Mexican magician with the "International Magicians In Action," coming to the Sacramento Memorial Auditorium on Wednesday, November 8.

According to press reports, the Dariel Fitzkee show is absolutely unlike any performance, magical or otherwise that has ever been presented here. A large number of magicians, selected prize winners in competition with other famous magicians, from all over the world, instead of the usual single performer, is a decided novelty.

Maldo, from Mexico, Ming from China, Lucille Hughes from Sweden, Caro from Australia, Tolmack, a Jugo-Slav, The Eysters, Lynn, Marcia Adair and Fitzkee are admitted by experts to be among the greatest manipulators in the world. So strong are Senor Maldo's fingers, developed as a result of years of practice, that he can sail playing cards to the last seats in the balcony with the mere snap of his wrist.

Speed and good natured kidding is the keynote of this unusual show as these famous performers convince you what they are doing is impossible, yet they do it for you.

Reserved seats are on sale at Ye Music Shoppe, 1014 10th Street, the prices ranging from 50c to $1.50. This is another Ware Hazelton attraction.

$2,300,000. That was Mr. Porter's last known venture in the banking field. Before joining Ham an' Eggs Mr. Porter worked for Governor Olson.

BORN OF 25 MONDAY

The $30 Thursday organization is an offspring of a $25-every Monday morning proposal which was the brainchild of Robert Noble, Los Angeles, who sold real estate until he had a vision and went to a sanitarium with it. Noble got his idea from a thesis on scrip by Professor Irving Fisher of Yale University, whose name was used to promote the $25-Monday idea. Mr. Fisher disowned Noble and the $25-Monday, but that didn't stop Noble. Noble was eventually stopped by the Allens with the active assistance of Captain Kynette, who was then out of jail and on the Los Angeles police force.

While the Allens and others took over Noble's organization, including his mail and contributions from followers, Captain Kynette took Noble to the calaboose. Those were the lean days of Ham an' Eggs. While Noble was in jail the Allens needed money to pay for radio time so an appeal for funds could be made to get the organization on its feet. That was when Keynette supplied the $130.

$5 AND 3 DAYS BETTER

When Noble got out of jail he had no organization, no money. But he still had title to the $25-every-Monday morning name. The Allen organization had to have a name. Noble was still trying to promote his $25-Monday idea and was a competitor. So the $30-Thursday came into being. It was a competitive necessity. The Allens, going after the trade, went Noble $5 and three days better.

The Allens operated $30-Thursday without anything definite by way of a plan until Sherman Bainbridge, a liberal, brought Mr. Owens in to the organization at $10 a week. Until then there was no exact notion just how the $30 was to be paid. Mr. Owens changed all that. He wrote the first proposal for 1938, which lost, and revised it for this year's November 7 election.

The Deschwanden Club Hall on Gold Flat was the scene of a gay affair Saturday evening when the Thursday Club enjoyed a delightful Hallowe'en party. Autumn flowers and leaves with Hallowe'en motifs and color scheme carried out decorations. After playing several jolly games dancing was enjoyed.

Miss Elinore Vanberg is enjoying a vacation in San Francisco. She went down last week and saw the fair before it closed.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

Kerosene lamps . . . foods that never heard of "health nspection" . . heating kettles of water for Saturday night baths . . . the dull dreaded long travel trips . . . impatient waiting for freight arrivals—who would trade today's alert "up and go" for yesterday's inconvenience?

In the archives of memory along with the kerosene lamps is stored the tiresome, "daylight to dark" trips to San Francisco. The spinning cycle of time has wrought travel changes that are pleasant, fast and far less expensive than those of a generation ago. Now—travelers from this area can choose a destination to almost any corner of this great California and, by train or sleek-lined Greyhound bus, reach that destination before the sun dips behind the western hills.

Freight deliveries have kept pace. Of brilliance in example of this are the two recently introduced freight schedules of the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad—the "overnight from San Francisco" and the "4-hour from Sacramento" services. Orders placed in San Francisco before 4 in the afternoon will be delivered to the consignee by the Narrow Gauge's celebrated pick-up and delivery service on the following morning. Merchandise ordered from Sacramento before 11 in the morning will be received for delivery in Grass Valley shortly after 2 in the afternoon! What a boon these two services will be to merchants of Grass Valley and Nevada City when the soon-to-start Christmas rush of "merchandise wanted RIGHT NOW" can be received to fill waiting shelves!

SUPER THRILLER IS ON THEATRE SCREEN TONIGHT

The famous case of the British crown jewels, the albatross of doom and the fiendish instrument of murder that strangles, crushes and vanishes—the super crime of the century—came to the Nevada Theatre yesterday in "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes." It's Nevada City's best film show in some time, repeating the success of "The Hound of the Baskervilles," first of the 20th Century-Fox films featuring Basil Rathbone as Holmes and Nigel Bruce as Dr. Watson. This team is perfect in the roles of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's famous characters and featured with Ida Lupino and Alan Marshal, they head a fine cast including Terry Kilburn, George Zucco (as Moriarity, Holmes' arch enemy), Henry Stephenson and E. E. Clive.

The screen play by Edwin Blum and William Drake depicts the death struggle of two master minds, one cunning and fiendish, the other brilliant and fearless — Moriarity and Holmes. The famous opponents actually meet at the opening of the story, when the master criminal boasts to Holmes: "Sherlock Holmes, your brain will meet its match at last—when I Professor Moriarty, have horrified the world with my perfect crime."

Fantastic clues confront the master detective in this case; there is a strange chinchilla fetish, the Star of Delhi, and the mystery of the Traitor's Gate in the London Tower. A woman in love is the victim; the $15,000,000 in gems the loot!

PICTURE OF U. S. PERILS DRAWN BY U. C. SAVANT

OAKLAND, Nov. 2. — Although there are forces pulling Germany, Soviet Russia, Italy and Japan apart, there are still stronger forces drawing them together. As a result the American navy may find itself at some future time in danger of being exposed to the hostility of navies in both the Atlantic and Pacific at the same time. This, combined with subversive activities here and in the states south of the Rio Grande might create an emergency which this country has never faced before.

This vivid word picture of some of the potentials of the present war and general world unrest was drawn for the Junior Chamber of Commerce here by Dr. Robert J. Kerner, professor of modern European history in the University of California, in an address commemorating the work of the National Defense Committee.

"Although this may be but a distant danger at present," Dr. Kerner stated, "the navy has the task of foreseeing all eventualities, and the Department of State the task of maneuvering in such a way as to prevent them by diplomatic moves short of war, for America does not want to get involved.

"In such circumstances, it may be expected that, if we are to defend the Americas, isolated and single-handed, a still greater expension of our present navy and naval bases, including even the projected base at Guam, is in prospect. It may be that, under these conditions, we will do everything short of becoming involved in war to create and maintain a balance of forces in Europe and Asia."

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

By BARBARA PHARISS

The Yellowjackets are in high spirits after their defeat last week of the Roseville Tigers. Their next game on the schedule is with the Sacramento Chinese on the local turf this afternoon at 2:30. Coach Frantz and his boys are looking forward to this game with great hopes of again winning since they have spent the last week in diligent practice. The starting lineup has not yet been decided upon. There were several injuries in the last game but it looks as if the boys will all be in shape for Friday's game. Oscar Engstrom received a head injury, and Ray Davis hurt his ankle.

AMAZON DANCE

The Girls League has planned something new and different. They are giving an "Amazon" dance. Although the main events are being kept a secret there is much enthusiasm shown in the fact that the girls invite and escort the boys. This is the first time this kind of dance has been given here and it is sure to be a great success. People attending will receive many surprises throughout the evening. Those not attending the school will be admitted with guest cards. The price is twenty five cents a couple.

"BIG GAME" LOOMS

With the "big game" of the year with Grass Valley not very far away, plans are being carried out by different organizations for a special show at that time. Mr. Smith is practicing his band and they will appear in full uniform. The chorus will put on a special stunt. A special assembly will be held to practice songs, especially the school hymn, "The Gold and Purple," which will be taught to the entire student body. The band will play at the assembly.

FRESHMEN AT ASSEMBLY

The regular assembly today will be devoted to the freshmen class, who will present a program for the student body. Among other numbers, a skit will be presented by a group of boys. Chairs for the gymnasium have now arrived and the assembly will be the first to be held there. The program will be presented on the new stage.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

The Epworth League, a young people's organization of the Methodist church is giving a party in honor of the freshmen and new students. It is called a "fall frolic." Invitations will be passed out during school Friday. The party is Saturday.

BASKETBALL GAME

The Nevada City Yellowjackets played their second game with the Grass Valley "C" basketball team Wednesday afternoon. The Miners again defeated the 'Jackets by the score of 11 to 8. It was a good game and the 'Jackets played better than in their previous game. Warren Smith, Leroy Leonard, Donald Odgers, Bob Elkus, Ted Sigourney and Chic Gregory all played. Clifford Horn is the coach.
